“Historic houses are among our society’s most precious assets. They beautify the built environment, link us to our past and inspire us to build well in the future”.

Hamish Scott, The Spectator

WHY WE LOVE THE OLD PRIORY

The Old Priory is a beautifully restored Cotswold manor house situated on the site of one of the largest Roman Villas in England. The present house has origins that go back to the early 16th century though much evident today is the work of 19th century architects when the house was largely remodelled to provide for a supremely comfortable family home.

The history of The Old Priory is fascinating in as much as it chronicles and reflects the development of this area which has a rich and diverse heritage. The now covered remains of the Roman Villa which extend over more than 2 acres and is remarkably preserved (and recorded in significant detail in a beautifully bound late 18th century account), though has not been exposed since 1973. Although known as The Old Priory for more than 200 years it is believed that any specific ecclesiastical associations were pre reformation. Elements of the Roman Villa were used and can be seen in the fabric of the existing house.

No less impressive is the setting which places the house in an enviable situation close to the thriving market towns of Stroud and Nailsworth and yet with bucolic views principally of ones own land which extends to some 90 acres.

The current house is planned around an H shape with the principal entertaining space situated on a raised ground floor. The large vaulted ceilinged hall gives a measure of the style and overall scale of the rest of the house. From the hall the drawing room, dining room, and a professional kitchen, all lead, making it an ideal space in which to entertain. The library and study are adjacent.

The large and well-arranged family kitchen is situated on the ground floor and leads directly onto the garden and a terrace. The whole of this floor is everyone's dream space with traditional style boot rooms, pantry and laundry room along with a cellar.

The first floor is perfectly arranged for family and guests although a separate guest house across the courtyard is always handy. The generous principal bedroom and bathroom occupies a wing of the house with a second bedroom and bathroom nearby that also hides a secret tower room. Three further bedrooms and three further bathrooms complete the ideal arrangement.

THE MAGIC OF AN ENGLISH GARDEN

The grounds add completely to the magic of The Old Priory. Largely restored and re-imagined by the current owners with great style and a plantsman's understanding and appreciation of an English garden. There is much to delight including an acre lake, Victorian spring water garden, kitchen garden, orchard, woodland walks, formal lawns and herbaceous borders.

SPORTING CHOICE

As you would expect of a house of this quality it comes with a Tennis Court and the most stunning infinity Swimming Pool (12m) and Pool House (the design of which is inspired by the Roman heritage of the site) with a 32ft entertaining room along with changing/shower room and fully equipped kitchen.

WHERE IT IS

The Old Priory is situated in the village of North Woodchester between the popular market towns of Nailsworth and Stroud. The property enjoys wonderful rural views across undulating countryside, whilst having the benefit of amenities close by.

The village of North Woodchester is popular for its rural location, pretty countryside, accessibility to nearby Nailsworth, Tetbury and the highly-regarded Beaudesert Park School (about 2 miles). Community spirit abounds in the village having a good selection of facilities, including; an excellent shop, pub, primary school, playground/sports field and a beautiful church.

The local towns of Nailsworth (3m) and Minchinhampton (3m) are easily reached and between them they offer an excellent range of services nearby. Nailsworth hosts a number of boutique shops, butcher, artisan bakery and locally renowned fishmonger and restaurant "Williams". There is also a small supermarket. The market towns of Stroud (2m), Tetbury and Cirencester provide a wider range of amenities and shopping facilities, recreational and cultural activities. Stroud is a short distance away and provides numerous options for services and supermarket shopping; perhaps most notable for its fabulous Farmers' Market.

Communications are excellent with Junction 13 of the M5 motorway (about 9 miles) giving access to Bristol and Birmingham and Junction 15 of the M4 about 30 miles) giving access to London.

Trains from Kemble to London Paddington take from 74 minutes via GWR services, which have recently been upgraded to provide more frequent direct trains to London. Alternatively, Stroud offers good rail services on the same line.

“Undulating gracefully across six counties, the Cotswolds region is a delightful tangle of golden villages, evocative churches and honey-coloured mansions”.
